CHICAGO, Ill. (Republican Headquarters)—Chairman Butler of the Republican National Committee, just before midnight tonight, claimed a decisive victory for Coolidge and Dawes. "The American people have spoken," Butler said in a statement. "They have elected Calvin Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes by a decisive vote. After the people have spoken so conclusively there is little for any one to say." "I sincerely thank the men and women who have worked so diligently to bring about this magnificent event."

NEW YORK—President Coolidge has swept the country with an indicated vote in the electoral college of at least 315 and with a probability that this total will mount considerably higher in the light of complete returns.

According to United Press returns at midnight Coolidge's plurality in 28 states were convincing. At this hour John W. Davis possessed an indicated victory in 13 states with a total of 149 electoral votes. Senator Robert M. La Follette appeared to command sufficient strength for possible victory in only one state, Wisconsin. Six states with a total of 5 electoral votes were uncertain. These were Arizona, Missouri, Montana, New Jersey, West Virginia and Washington, all republican four years ago.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. President Coolidge's apparent victory in today's election promises to approximate if not equal the landslide of Warren G. Harding four years ago. By 11 p. m. tonight, returns to the United Press indicated that Maryland, Ohio and Indiana were unmistakably in the Coolidge column. Nebraska and both Dakotas were giving the President substantial leads. West Virginia was wavering toward Coolidge while Oklahoma, Tennessee, and Missouri alone of the Democratic states that turned to Harding in 1920 appeared to be willing again to enter the Democratic column. Early returns from New Jersey and Bayonne gave Davis comfortable majority Governor Smith, having again pulled a political wonder stunt in his home state this time successfully backing a republican landslide, was almost overwhelmed when he visited his state headquarters at 11 p. m. to issue a statement. His workers, both men and women fell upon him, bringing his hands and kissing him.

In first returns Democrat votes Boston threw some doubt over the election of speak F. H. Gillett, who on the basis of somewhat complete returns from the remainder of the state seemed to have a safe majority. It cannot be decided definitely whether he has a majority over his Democratic opponent, Senator David I. Walsh, until a more complete count is made. In Tennessee, Tyron, the leading nominee, jumped to a lead which disposed some of the doubt over hanging the senatorial race there.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Possibility of democratic control of either house of congress faded into obscurity at 10:30 p. m., when returns of the United Press from all save the far western states indicated that Coolidge republicans would increase their strength in both the senate and the house of representatives unless an upset in the west should unexpectedly blast all indications. The La Follette group in both houses will continue to hold the balance of power although by a diminished margin. Such a development will give President Coolidge nearer a working majority for his republican proposals. Two more republican seats were added by returns indicating the election of Jesse Metcalfe in Rhode Island and T. Coleman DuPont in Delaware. Senator Norris Shepard was apparently returned to his democratic seat from Texas. Senator Cawens was polling sufficient strength in Michigan to indicate his ultimate election. The returns at this hour would give the republicans the ten seats they now hold in Delaware, Rhode Island, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, (declined in September) Michigan, New Jersey and New Hampshire along with one seat formerly held by the democrats in Massachusetts. The democrats appeared to have held their nominal democratic seats in eight states of the solid south including Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and Texas without a gain.

NEW YORK, N. Y. Nov. 4.—The nation has again divided along old time party lines, according to returns from virtually all but five far western states up to 10 o'clock tonight. President Coolidge has carried Mass., along with the other New England states, has overwhelmingly swept Pennsylvania and Illinois, has a commanding lead which virtually assures victory in Ohio and Indiana and in addition has apparently gathered up the full quota of smaller republican states.

At this hour, his definite standing in the electoral college is 170 while the total strength of Davis at this hour is 108. It requires 209 to elect.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—John W. Davis decided to withhold any statement on the outcome of the presidential election until later in the day, according to Frank Polk early this morning. Davis remained at Polk's home, listening to the returns by radio.

NEW YORK

NEW YORK CITY, Nov. 4. (9 o'clock)—President Coolidge has carried New York state by a plurality which will rival the million votes margin of Warren G. Harding four years ago. This fact, apparent when Coolidge maintained constant leads over Davis on returns from Brooklyn and ran only slightly behind Davis in the democratic strongholds of Manhattan, increased indications of his nationwide victory. New York's 45 electoral votes, coupled with the 29 from Illinois where Coolidge was maintaining a 2 to 1 lead at 9 o'clock. Pennsylvania's normal 38 republican electoral votes and with Connecticut and New Hampshire in the Coolidge column; at this hour, the president was leading Davis on definite United Press figures by 143 to 89 in the electoral college. At the same time the first returns emanating from Tennessee and West Virginia showed the Coolidge trend spreading into territory heretofore regarded as doubtful. While Coolidge was sweeping New York State Governor Smith was making a valiant fight to overcome the lead of the head of the ticket. Coming in to Greater New York, his home and ably 250,000 votes behind Roosevelt he was piling up margins in the city and environs which led Tammany Hall to predict he would have give Coolidge 20, Davis five. La Follette 6. For congress, Davis, Independent 7, Carter, republican 14. FAIRFIELD—Returns from 12 in complete precincts in Solano county gave the United Press Coolidge 65, Davis 41, La Follette 84. United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Republicans were leading by safe majorities in the congressional and senatorial races in the eastern half of the United States, and it appeared at 9 o'clock that they might enter the majorities they have in both houses of congress. Riding toward a strong poll for President Coolidge, republican congressmen were in the main far ahead of their democratic opponents. Speaker Charles G. Dawes was leading in the House of Representatives, while David I. Walsh, in the Massachusetts senatorial race by 10 to 4, and Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, held the democratic seat. In Maryland the democrats were in danger of losing three congressional seats with republicans running "safely" in the lead. Reports at this hour were likewise showing that the democratic senatorial seats in Oklahoma, Tennessee and Kentucky were in doubt. Did You Ever Stop to Think

By E. R. Waite, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.

THAT one of the surprising things about the average man of today is his ignorance of the many kinds of service that public service corporations stand ready to give him.

THAT business in every section would be better if every man realized that the ambition of every public service corporation is to build up and enlarge the communities they serve.

THAT public service corporations realize fully that efficiency and service win, and only those that are well managed start somewhere and get somewhere.

THAT they are eager to be of every possible service, and for that reason, employ only men of character and ambition as their managing officers; men who know their business and look to the future with confidence.

THAT these men actually think about what they are doing and why they do it; men who devote their time in rendering a double duty to their companies and their communities.

PUBLIC SERVICE corporations are in the public service and the public never let them forget that fact.

IF people knew them better they would value them more.

THE PRINTED PAGE is the connecting link between the public service corporations and the public. Public service corporations should tell about their service through the printed page so the people may understand them better.

"Wa'll Cal I'm Glad To Keep Ye"

A SONG OF THE CUMBERLANDS

(Many Fishermen's Hymn. Tune, Peel Castle)

(Arr. W. H. Gill)

- Hear us, O Lord, from heaven Thy dwelling place:
Like them of old, in vain we toll all night,
Unless with us Thou go, who art the Light;
Come then, O Lord, that we may see Thy face.
- Thou, Lord, dost rule the raging of the sea,
When loud the storm and furious is the gale;
Strong is Thine arm: our little barks are frail:
Send us Thy help; remember Galilee.
- Our wives and children we commend to Thee:
For them we plough the land and plough the deep;
For them by day the golden corn we reap,
By night the silver harvest of the sea.
- We thank Thee, Lord, for sunshine, dew and rain,
Broadcast from heaven by Thine Almighty hand—
Source of all life, unnumbered as the sand—
Bird, beast, and fish, herb fruit, and golden grain.
- O Bread of Life, Thou in Thy Word hast said,
Who feeds in faith on Me shall never die!
In mercy hear Thy hungry children's cry,
Father, give us this day our daily bread!
- Sow in our hearts the seed of Thy dear love,
That we may reap contentment, joy and peace;
And when at last our earthly labors cease,
Grant us to join Thy harvest home above.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—The scenery of the historic Potomac, above Washington, is to form the background for a forthcoming movie thriller.

"Two miles upstream" from the capital, past which the river winds in a broad and placid stream, the Maryland and Virginia hills crowd in upon it, forcing it into a narrow rock-walled gorge, through which its waters rush in foaming, boiling torrents. This is the battle ground for hardy and reckless canoeists. To shoot these rapids in a canoe is a proof of prowess with the paddle and is an accomplishment in the seeking of which many persons perish each year.

Lytle Taylor, whose recently announced and later renounced engagement to Jack Dempsey won her many columns of "publicity," as heroine in "Playthings of Desire," got a ducking and the thrill of her life when swept into the swirl of these rapids, under the eye of a camera which caught the tip of the Washington monument and the capital dome in part of its background.

Whether the setting of "Playthings of Desire" in scenes surrounding Washington signifies anything as to the nature of the play is not disclosed. A political play might well be staged under that title. For politicians desire much—and they often prove mere playthings.

No preacher ever yet became president, but we have an ex-president who has become a preacher.

He is none other than William Howard Taft, officially chief justice of the Supreme Court, unofficially lay-preacher of the All Souls Unitarian Church.

In religion rather than political convictions, Taft told his audience at the dedication of a new edifice for his church, lies the world's hope of future peace.

"Covenants and agreements are useful in averting war," he said, "but a spirit of real religion among men is the necessity."

THE economy program under which Washington administrations have been laboring since the institution of the budget bureau, breaks the fire of every department head or bureau chief sooner or later. Each outfit thinks its own expenditures absolutely necessary, and when its estimates for appropriations are pared it is pulled to vent its feelings in biting or bitter comment.

Brig Gen Herbert M. Lord now heading the budget organization, has a sense of humor, however, that enables him to smile even while the work of criticism. He is under a barrage of criticism. He is even willing to accept as intended for him, personally, all shots aimed in the general direction of budget rulings.

"I'm like the colored gentleman who had promised to procure a turkey for a customer," he explains.

"When the bird was delivered the buyer protested that he had wanted a tame turkey, not a wild one."

"Why, that's a tame turkey," boomed the old negro insisted.

"How come then it's all full of bird shot?"

"Yassah, it's full o' shot all right, but it's a tame turkey anyhow. Those shots was meant for me."

SENATOR ARTHUR CAPPER has just figured out that the government has been run by lawyers ever since the first Congress met in 1789.

A majority in both House and Senate, in every Congress, has been held by "members of the bar."

Of the present House, 282 out of 435 are lawyers, while 56 of the 56 senators list the law as their profession.

Life in the Open a Builder of National Health and Character

Life in the open is a great character builder. From such life springs the American spirit of freedom. During the last decade, the outdoor recreative spirit has advanced rapidly among our people. The opportunity offered by our forests, waterways and mountains, a agency for the development of our physical vigor, moral strength and clean simplicity of mind are wholly immeasurable. Country recreation for as many of our people as possible should be our national goal. In the administration of national parks, national forests, wild life reserves and unreserved domain, Uncle Sam has almost unlimited opportunities for this form of public service. The function of the Federal Government in the construction of highways, in the study of the propagation and protection of game animals, birds and fish has a very decided bearing upon the recreational facilities open to our people.

Sad to tell, we have not only hunted our game we have slaughtered it. Not content with merely conquering our wilderness, we have also destroyed it. The United States has more inland waterways and more extensive coastal shorelines than any other country in all creation. Notwithstanding, we have negligently sanctioned the pollution of our streams, lakes and coastal waters until they are the worst in the world. We have established a world's record in drainage activities. We have drained over 70,000,000 acres of swamps and marshes that formerly were natural refuges for waterfowl and wild life. We must curtail forest fires. Stop stream pollution and decrease unnecessary drainage if the coming generation are to enjoy sports and profit comparably from our outdoor resources.

We have wasted our wild life heritage profitably. As a result of overhunting, the California grizzly bear and the passenger pigeon are extinct; the heath hen, pinated grouse in five states, whooping crane and trumpeter swan are in serious danger of extermination. About 5,500,000 gunners annually hunt our ruffed grouse, woodcock, snipe, quail and the ducks and geese which once covered the water of the vast area between the Atlantic Coast and the Rocky Mountains.

The space annihilating automobile has vastly increased the skill of the hunter and correspondingly jeopardized the escape chances of the hunted. Hunters now use motor cars and are able to cover many times as large areas as formerly in their shooting excursions. Annually, the number of hunting licenses issued shows marked additions.

As compared with the firearms of a score or more years ago, some of the shotguns of the present are miniature machine guns, which are deadly in execution in the hands of an adept gunman.

Practical systems of conserving our wild life suggested latterly by authorities familiar with the terrible carnage to which wild game and waterfowl are exposed include:

1. Reduce the annual "kill" by decreasing the size of the legal bag of game and reducing the length of the open season.

2. Facilitate natural reproduction by establishing large numbers of game sanctuaries throughout the United States.

3. Increase the price of hunting licenses and thus augment the state in license in the United States to make. The average cost of a hunt—laws and the increase of wild funds for the enforcement of game day is only $1.40—a very low charge.

4. The unnecessary drainage of swamps and marshes to obtain land worthless for agriculture should be prevented.

Our present game laws in 27 states place the daily bag of ducks at 25, which is at least five times as many as the average sportsman's family can consume. In eight other states where ducks are scarce, the daily limit is 15, while in Maine and Colorado it is 10. The present is the zero era for wild game, for millions of armed men, predatory beasts and destructive birds are allied against the wild life of America.

Germans Resent Charge of Guilt

FRANKFORT, Germany, Nov. 5. (AP) —The fact that Germany, in signing the Versailles Treaty acknowledging herself to be solely responsible for the outbreak of the World War, carries absolutely no weight as far as the scientific establishment of the facts in the case is concerned, in the opinion of the German Historical Society, which recently held its fourteenth convention here. The signature declares a resolution unanimously adopted, was obtained under duress, and is of no significance whatever for determining the scientific truth.

The German historians hold that, before the question can be scientifically determined, all official archives of all nations concerned must be made available for thorough and methodical search.

LIPTON TO TRY FOR "BLOOMIN' MUG" AGAIN

British Yachtsman Is Here to Challenge For America's Cup.

HIS LAST STAND

Will Provides That Efforts to Recapture the Trophy Shall Continue Long After His Death.

Determined to make a fifth and last try in person to win the America's Cup, Sir Thomas Lipton arrived on the Leviathan, planning preliminary negotiations for races in 1926.

To reporters, he admitted that this challenge would be his last. He is now in his 74th year. Should he fail, his four green flag might still be seen in later international contests, as Sir Thomas has provided in his will that should he not lift the cup before his death the Royal Ulster Yacht Club of Belfast, Ireland, shall keep on challenging in the hope of carrying "the bloomin' mug" back across the Atlantic.

The challenge must come from a yacht club and be sent ten months prior to the races. That is in the deed of gift. Under this ruling the club has until next fall to send the deed formally. Sir Thomas hopes, however, to discuss with the New York Yacht Club what type and size of boat would be acceptable, and it is believed that as soon as these preliminaries are over a challenge will be sent.

The per-severing competitor for the most famous of yacht racing trophies said his optimism is still unshaken and that he believes the Shamrock V will take back to England the "one hundred guineas cup."

"What good is the cup to America?" said Sir Thomas with a twinkle in his eye. "When you can't put anything in it? I understand the only thing you have left to put in it would turn the bottom out of it."

Sir Thomas said he will spare no expense in building a new Shamrock. Whether she be a schooner or sloop. He wants to chance to a schooner, he admitted, but is willing to accept any proposal that the New York Yacht club may have to offer.

The famous tea merchant and yachtsman who completed his sixtieth trip to America yesterday first arrived here in 1869, with $30 in his pocket. Never before has he received such a welcome as he got on his arrival.

The passengers and many of the crew stood at the side of the big vessel as he stepped to the deck of the Florida, yacht of Special Deputy Police Commissioner Barron Collier, with Police Commissioner Enright and other notables on board to take him up the bay.

Going up to the Columbia Yacht club, the police department band, and glee club played and sang for him. Sir Thomas is an honorary captain of the department. Aboard the yacht beside Commissioner Enright were George MacDonald, an honorary Deputy Police Commissioner; Dr. Carlton Simon, Magistrate James T. O'Neil, Brig. Gen. William P. Weigel, Dr. Alfred Nicholson, Col. Peter Traub, Benedict Greenhut, Rhineland Waldo, Chevalier R. Price and Bishop E. W. Hunter, who gave a blessing to Sir Thomas as he boarded the Florida.

The baronet, became reminiscent as the yacht passed the Battery. Fifty-five years ago Thomas Johnstone Lipton staggered ashore in New York, black with coal dust and gasping for breath, from the furnace room of a Charleston steamer. He had become a stowaway on board because he had no money to pay his passage; had been dragged from his concealment after the boat was at sea and with kicks and curses set to earn his passage by shoveling coal.

Tools of Inventor Rest In Peace

LONDON, Nov. 5. (AP) —Negotiations are expected to be completed shortly whereby the gairret in Hestfield Hall, Handsworth, in which James Watt conducted the experiments which led to the development of the steam engine, will be brought bodily to London to be perpetuated in the South Kensington Museum.

Watt first went to Hestfield Hall in 1768. After his death the room in which he worked was locked and remained unopened for many years, and his tools and his benches, even the leather apron in which he worked and which remains in the same spot in which he placed it, have remained undisturbed.

English Favor the Long Engagement

LONDON, Nov. 5. (AP) —Back to the long engagement, seems to have become a sort of slogan among the lovers of Britain. It would be hard to say how the change has come about but evidence accumulates that long engagements are again in fashion.

The wartime habit of the hasty marriage—not seldom followed by repentance at leisure—is surely giving way to the protracted and romantic engagements of pre-war days when Queen Victoria used to spank one of her grandchildren who afterwards became Emperor of Germany.

"There is a slump in the sale of engagement rings," confided a court jeweler. "Young men nowadays do not rush into three or four engagements before they marry. This, however, is balanced by the noticeable marriages are generally the end in the courtship. The most fashionable of costliness of present exchange result of a six to twelve month's engagement."

PARIS MEASURES ROAD DISTANCES FROM TABLET

PARIS, Nov. 5. (AP) —Henceforth when the tourist automobilist round Paris sees that he is so many kilometers from the city he will know that that distance is measured to a bronze slab that has been placed on the open space in front of Notre Dame Cathedral.

This slab, weighing 170 pounds, is set flush with the paving and is inscribed with a diagram showing the points of the compass and the arms of Paris, a ship tossed by the waves with the device in Latin to the effect that she will forever float and never be submerged.

Children's Book Week Is Observed

"After election day—the two-man with children will have until Saturday to get ready for one of the most important events of the year—Children's Book Week," says William Frederick Bigelow. "Children need books; they must have them. So do, so must older folks, but they can get them for themselves. Children—most of them, at least—will wait until they are supplied. They will starve for the want of books and not know that they are starving. Feed them and watch how eagerly they take. Give them books, and you start a habit; feed their minds, and you start a hunger that is never satisfied. Only be careful about the books you start with. Let the first ones be of the best and you need not worry about the cheap things they may come across later. Few things are more right than a child's mind when we first come in contact with it. What it later becomes is our responsibility. It is easily turned

Soviet Russia Is Lenient to Criminals

MOSCOW, Nov. 5. (AP) —Persons guilty of murder and other crimes in Soviet Russia are punished with sentences so light that they will amaze American judges and public prosecutors. In most cases punishment for murder in the first degree does not exceed five years. It rarely exceeds 10 years, unless the crime is associated with banditry.

The child's mind will not fail you, if you do not fail it. You can't do your part alone; you need the help of books. Children's Book Week is intended both to impress this fact upon you, and to make it easy for you to do your part. Pay a visit to a book store and have a look at its treasures; take some of them home with you."

Worst Coughs Yield Quickly to Good Old Pine Tar and Honey

One of the best cough medicines that was ever compounded, according to specialists, is good old pine tar and honey. It often stops a bad cough in 24 hours, and another advantage is that it can be given to young and old alike, as it contains no narcotics or opiates. Doctors say the pine tar quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing, also healing soreness while the honey both soothes irritation and gives a pleasant taste. The kind that has been used in thousands of families for many years for coughs, chest colds, hoarseness, spasmodic croup, etc., is the original compound, which has had many imitations, but still remains the best as it is scientifically compounded of just the right proportions of pine tar, honey and other healing ingredients which the best doctors have found to aid in giving quick relief. If you want the best, get the original Dr. Bell's Pine Tar and Honey and no other. Only 30c. at any good druggist.

Prosperity Again Smiles In Berlin

BERLIN, Nov. 5. (AP)—Amazing changes have come about in Berlin with the opening season, the business revival effected by the stabilized rentenmark, and the adoption of the agreement worked out at the London Conference for the execution of the Dawes plan.

High-priced hotels are crowded; there are theatre and opera openings almost nightly; various German commercial organizations are holding conventions and conferences; directors of various shipping companies are preparing for the extension of their activities and hotelmen have been encouraged to greater activity. Hotel lobbies are more brightly lighted and private dining rooms are again entertaining many parties. Berlin hotel-keepers are especially jubilant over the dropping of the tax of 15 percent which the city has imposed on all foreigners occupying rooms in Berlin.

Berlin's leading hotels are taking on an especially international aspect and celebrities from all parts of the world are again appearing here as in pre-war days. In the lobby of a single hotel Mrs. Katherine Tingley, Ganna Walska, Ossip Gabrilowitsch, Isadora Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Dawes, H. M. Robinson, Leo Slezak, Gerhard Hauptmann, Max Reinhardt, Mascagni, Maria Gay, Julia Culp, Fritz Massary and a score of other persons known to newspaper readers the world over were recently to be seen.

CHICAGO PLANS A LIVE STOCK EXPOSITION

To Be a History-Making Occasion In Numerous Ways.

MEMORABLE EVENT

Numerous Reunions and Banquets Will Give Visitors An Opportunity to Meet Old Friends There.

The quarter-centennial celebration of the International Live Stock exposition at Chicago, November 29 to December 6, promises to be a history making occasion in many ways, according to B. H. Helme, secretary-manager of this well known show.

The social side will be especially emphasized this year. Numerous reunions and banquets will give visitors an unusual opportunity to meet their friends from all parts of the country and renew old acquaintances. The business interests of Chicago have arranged unusual forms of entertainment for guests at the metropolis during International week.

The live stock contests between superior specimens of cattle, horses, sheep and swine promise to be of a rare sporting character since many of the previous champions have been retired and the winners this year are expected to include numerous "dark horses."

The Grain and Hay show will prove to be an exciting battleground where the relative merits as crop producing regions of the various sections of the continent will be fought out among over 5,000 outstanding samples of grains, small seeds and hay. Some portions of North America have enjoyed favorable conditions this year, and others have suffered from unreasonable weather, but competitions will be equalized by dividing the territory into zones.

The Agricultural Colleges and Exposition. Stations are planning to make interesting and valuable exhibits, showing the results of recent investigations in many lines of agriculture. The subjects treated will include many of timely importance such as the best use to make of the soft corn crop. A union livestock judging contest will be held on the opening day between the various state championship teams for national honors. The three young boys or girls who make the highest individual scores will be awarded agricultural college scholarships by the Chicago Association of Commerce. A feature of the night horse show this year will be the class for the old time four-horse hitch which is coming back in social favor in the east and abroad. A busy week of education and entertainment is promised all visitors to the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago the first week in December by the management.

Pilgrims Turn Faces to Rome

ROME, Nov. 5. (AP)—The organizing committee for the Holy Year has already received announcements of 66 pilgrimages to Rome during 1925.

One pilgrimage from Arepnetina is due to arrive Christmas Eve, the day before the Holy Year opens and a thousand English pilgrims are coming in the following May. The Maltese pilgrimage will arrive in August. The International Association of Catholic Youth is sending representatives in September, and other pilgrims are coming to Rome from Mexico, Quebec, Montreal, Minnesota, Michigan and the Philippines at dates yet to be fixed.

The largest number of pilgrims yet announced is from Germany, from which country a train of 1,000 pilgrims is being organized every ten days. Six hundred Chinese are expected in January. Children pilgrims are arriving in February, and a body of French war widows in April. Other pilgrimages are being arranged from Palestine, Syria and Egypt.

English Woman Sees American Election

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 4. (AP)—Learning at first hand how an American election is conducted, Mrs. Clive Neville Rolfe, order of the British Empire and daughter of Admiral of the Fleet, Sir Cecil Bagnall, second in command of the Grand Fleet at the battle of Jutland, visited the polls today.

She made the trip incidental to her presence, invited by the Women's Social Hygiene Association of Kentucky.

COLLEGES HELP TO FIGHT IGNORANCE

Berea and Witherpoon Colleges Help to Eradicate Illiteracy in Kentucky's Mts.

FRANKFORT, Nov. 5. (AP)—In the mountainous district of Kentucky are two schools, Berea College, the largest and most widely known mountain school of the south and Witherpoon college, another large institution but the least known among 200 mountain schools.

The students at Berea work their way, training to teach in the professions of law, farming and business. Their expenses are negligible but their means are limited. President William J. Hutchins points out and the enrollment runs as high as 2,738 students, who come from the neighboring mountains.

The system is one of self-support. The faculty has arranged that the students may work half a day and study half a day. While President Hutchins' son's education costs more than $1,000 a year at a prominent university, the students here average $146 annual expenditure. Most of the pupils do not have that much money so they receive faculty loans of $80 each, then work out the remainder of their expenses.

The dedication of the new home economics building brought out the largest body of mountain men and women ever assembled. It was considered a demonstrative response to the campaign against illiteracy, one of the features of which was the inauguration of "moonlight schools" for illiterate adults.

Governor Fields recently dedicated the latest addition to Witherpoon College, a gymnasium of rough hewn timber to reach which he and his party made much of the journey on mules. The school is located in a pocket between high mountains. The gymnasium was built entirely by the community situated on Squabble Creek, a half mile from its confluence with the Kentucky river.

A non-sectarian institution, an orphanage and two branch schools, it is supported chiefly by the Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian church of Brooklyn. Although one of the largest schools in the mountains it is little known within the state.

Twenty-one years ago Harvey S. Murdock, president, came from Brooklyn to found a college in the mountains. Next year, with completion of the building of high and grade schools, his original purpose will have been achieved.

Is Your Tax Load Heavy Enough?

If Government Ownership of Railroads should ever be realized in this country, two additional tax burdens would inevitably be thrust upon the American people:

1. The Government would have to purchase the railroads at their present value of at least twenty billion dollars, because our constitutional guaranty provides against confiscation.
2. The taxes the railroads pay—a million dollars a day—would have to be assessed by the individual taxpayers, because government property is exempt from taxation.

Disregarding any assessment to pay off the enormous debt of twenty billions, interest thereon at 4% would amount to $800,000,000 per year; this added to the $385,000,000 railway taxes would make a total of $1,185,000,000 that would be saddled on to the people for the questionable benefit of owning the railroads.

The American people are now paying the overwhelming sum of seven billion, seven hundred million dollars in annual taxes. If the Government assumed control of the railroads, and the extra taxes required for their purchase and operation were levied, the annual tax bill of this country would run nearly ten billion dollars; an amount greater than any free people have ever been called upon to pay in the history of the world.

Receiving new collections each month as we do, each monthly collection made up of a variety of models, it is really possible to limit the number of duplicates of any particular model. This assurance of exclusiveness is keenly appreciated by women of taste who like to know that they will not encounter others wearing costumes similar to their own. Irene Castle knows how important is this feature of exclusiveness so supplies a brilliant variety of new creations to American women every month!

Because of the world-wide distribution of these famous costumes through one exclusive dealer in each important city, a tremendous volume is obtained. Large volume makes for lower manufacturing costs; hence the price of each garment is surprisingly reasonable considering the faultless designing and superb quality.

President Sweeps Northern States

democratic journal of this state, conceded the election of President Coolidge in an extra at 6 o'clock tonight, Pacific coast time.

NE WYOMING, Nov. 4.—The New York World, the New York Times and the Brooklyn Citizen democratic, concede Coolidge's election. The Baltimore Sun concedes he has carried Baltimore by a vote which eating he will win that state's eight electoral votes. First returns from South Dakota and Nebraska, counted as sources of strength particularly for La Follette, showed Coolidge leading there also. In Oklahoma, which Harding carried four years ago although usually democratic, Davis was running far behind with about one seventh of the districts in the state heard from.

Coolidge was leading in West Virginia, Tennessee, forcing a total electoral vote between 350 and 400. La Follette was leading the other presidential candidates only in Wisconsin, according to United Press returns at this hour.

The gubernatorial race between Al Smith and Theo. Roosevelt continued to be the talk of New York after Coolidge's victory in this commonwealth had been conceded. The New York Times declared Coolidge's plurality would be 800,000 in the state. Reports to Tammany Hall from lieutenants in 370 districts in Greater New York showed Smith leading Roosevelt 176,000 to 88,000, indicating an ultimate margin of 561,000 down state. At the same time Tammany lieutenants in 2,135 districts out of 4,500 outside of Greater New York showed Roosevelt 559,000 and Smith 387,000, indicating Roosevelt would come down state with a majority of approximately 200,000 votes. The New York Times definitely announced Smith's election.

sure of returning to his seat. Democrats held 31 seats in the four Virginia, North Carolina and Mississippi southern states of South Carolina, day without change. The republican representative from New Hampshire, Vermont and Connecticut likewise seemed to be certain of returning on the normal majority.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—A tremendous vote, probably a record, rolled up in the big cities and along the highways and by ways of the United States today as the people flocked to the polls in answer to appeals by Calvin Coolidge, John W. Davis and Senator Robert M. La Follette for election to the presidency. By 6 p. m. the polls had closed in South Carolina, Virginia, North Carolina, Florida, which states, pursuing their normal political bent, had started Davis off with 39 votes in the electoral college. At this hour, too, Maine and Vermont had closed their ballot boxes, run true to form, presented the republican candidate with their total of 10 electoral votes.

Except for isolated cases, the election, considering the great outpouring of voters in the history of the United States, was quiet and orderly. There was a shooting affair of some proportions in one of the Chicago precincts and some arrests for illegal voting in Mexico, Indiana, Las Vegas, New Mexico, was under martial law to insure unimpeded voting, points in Southern Illinois were under armed guards to prevent riots. But the voting was without any shocking disturbances. Two fatalities resulting in Tennessee. At Lexington, Dan G. Powers, an election judge shot and killed C. A. Bartholomew and P. W. Rogers, both election officials, following an argument. J. L. Bartholomew was seriously wounded.
